Heart Group Fund Raising Is Successful

Data recently released by the Fund Raising Advisory and Training Committee of the California Heart Association notes those areas of the state where volunteers have been most successful in raising funds for the agency's programs.

Well above average in performance for 1969-70 was the Central Mission Trails Heart Association. The combined totals for the local group's three counties--Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito--was 30.7 per cent above the goal established for the area by Heart's national organization. In this respect, the local effort was the fifth highest among the twenty campaigns for Heart in California. Riverside county surpassed its goal by the greatest amount, 75.6 per cent.

In another index, per capita contributions, the total Heart Fund campaigns for the area included in the multi-county Central Mission Trails chapter was 7th in California, at 21.6 cents contributed for each resident of the area. The state average was 20.5 cents. The highest per capita support was for the San Francisco Heart Association, 39 cents.

The Heart Fund campaign for 1969-70 raised $83,620 in Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties, an increase of 5.5 per cent over the 1968-69 effort. General Chairman for the drive was insurance executive Don McAnaney of Salinas.

Stop to Think

The following are some little quotations by Richard Hamilton, which seem most appropriate to us in this time of environmental crisis.

"To look at nature without seeing it is worse than being blind."

"Oceans of love washing over the sands of time bringing great joy to the multitudes who are luck enough to be there."

"With our destroying of nature we are most assuredly breaking the sixth commandment."

"The beautiful hues and colors of God's great palette reflect in the eyes of mankind."

Council Names Planners

The Seaside city council, by a vote of 4 to 1, last week named two new members to the City Planning Commission Named to the commission were Mrs. Linda Bassett, who served on the city Library committee and Ted Roberts, a member of the Seaside Art Commission.

The two were named to replace Pete Cruz and Mrs. Billie Barton whose terms had expired last week. Naming of the two commissioners to the Planning Commission was the first time that the council had implemented a new law which allows the council to override appointments by the mayor.

Councilman Jerry McGrath nominated Roberts, a forman at the Prattco Sand pland in Seaside. Roberts has served on the art commission for two years and has lived in Seaside with his wife, Wilma, for the last 16 years. They have two married sons.

Councilwoman Pearl Carey nominated Mrs. Bassett who has lived in Seaside with her husband, Norman, for the last 13 years. They operate the A and Z Rentals on Echo Avenue across the street from the Mayfair Market. They have three children, Debrah 19, Melanie, 17 and Chris, 15.

Henry Burney was appointed to the Parks and Recreation Commission by the same vote of 4 to 1 with mayor Haddad again voting against. Burney is the operator of a Janitorial Service and has been active in civic affairs.

EXPRESS YOURSELF – Kindergarten class K1 of Del Rey Woods School held a special "Express Yourself" program in which parents were invited to demonstrate to children various hobbies. Teacher in foreground is Mrs. Lydia Robinson, briefing children before class. In background is, serving coffee, Mrs. Rugh; left of her is Mrs. Waylan; on right is Mrs. Gilbert and barely showing in background is Mrs. Brown. Seated in rear is Beverly Bondi, who showed children how to make pictures with shells. Program featured guitar playing by one of parents and breaking of Pinata in playground. All in all it was a huge success for both parents and children.

Chamber of Commerce Approves Incorporation

The chamber of commerce of Marina has launched a new drive to incorporate that community into a city.

The chamber voted 16-1 to authorize the board of directors to take any necessary steps to bring about the incorporation of the community.

The first drive toward incorporation of Marina took place in 1964. The voters rejected the proposal then, but sentiment appears to have changed over the years. A survey of the audience at Olson School during the chamber meeting indicated that they favored incorporation by two-to-one.

Althought the move by the chamber is a big step, it is only the first in a long process

Chamber president James Storey said they must now get the approval of the Local Agency Formation Commission and a majority vote in a community election.

Before the question can be voted on, petitions must be signed by at least 25 percent of the property owners. These must also represent at least 25 percent of the assessed valuation of the land.

Charles Dermates, vice president for civic development and chairman of a feasibility study to committee, indicated that the necessary steps to incorporation could take almost 18 months to complete. However, he pointed out that once the steps were taken and city government was set up. Marina could operate without a municipal tax if part of Fort was included in the city boundaries.

With the addition of a section of Fort Ord, the new boundaries for the city would be Fort Ord's 1st Street and Intergarrison Road on the south, Blanco Road on the east the Salinas River on the north and the ocean on the west.

These boundaries would allow Marina to have a population of at least 20,000. Included in this would be 8,270 residents of Marina proper, 1,420 persons living in outlying areas and 10,000 persons from Fort Ord.

With a population of 20,000 the estimated annual budget would be $560,000. Dermates pointed out, though, that the city would receive about $400,000 in state subventions. Another $50,000 would be received from sales and use taxes, $25,000 from business licenses and $18,000 from traffines.

CARE's Food Crusade Is Beginning

"Thanksgiving is traditionally a time for counting our blessings. But, this year, for the earthquake victims in Peru, the natives who are trying to rebuild their lives in Nigeria and the countless refugees in South Vietnam, these blessings might seem few and far between," Miss Molly Farmin, Regional Director of CARE, commented recently.

"Thus, as we start the Holiday Season, we know that Americans will feel that it is a most appropriate time to join CARE in its annual Food Crusade Campaign," Miss Farmin added.

CARE's Food Crusade program during 1970-71 will feed 25 million people in 35 countries around the world. More than 23 million children will be fed at schools, pre-school centers, nutritional centers and other institutions as part of this program.

Information about CARE's various programs overseas may be obtained by contacting the Regional CARE Office located at 444 Market Street, San Francisco 94111.

Talcott Named Conferee on Military Bill

Congressman Burt L. Talcott has announced that Speaker of the House John W. McCormack has appointed him as one of the House Conferees who will meet with their Senate counterparts to reconcile differences in the Military Construction Appropriation Bill for fiscal year 1971.

The conference became necessary when the House disagreed to the Senate amendments to H. R. 17970, fiscal 1971 appropriations for Military Construction.

Talcott said, "The Senate bill called for less funds for family housing while at the same time the Senate increased funds for the other items in the bill."

Noting that a majority of the American people wish to replace the draft with a volunteer army, Talcott remarked that, "Adequate family housing is extremely important if we want to attract responsible young men to a military career."

Family Services Expanded

The Monterey County Health Department is expanding its Family Planning Program with the opening of two additional clinics this week. This is the first step in the County's expansion effort, according to Dr. Richard S. Fraser, Monterey County Director of Public Health.

"Our intent," Dr. Fraser stated, "is to make family planning services more available to a greater number of people. We now have the means to help parents have only the number of children they want-when they want them. Our problem," he continued, "is to make our clinics available to the greatest number of persons possible. We are going to remain very flexible about the hours and locations of our clinics. As it becomes evident that more people desire these services we will revise our operations to best meet their needs."

The clinics will offer a full range of accepted contraceptive devices and methods. These include: the intra-uterine device (the IUD or "coil"); the "pill:" the diaphragm and rhythm method counseling.

Women attending a family planning clinic will be examined by a physician. Counseling from both the physician and a public health nurse will also be available to help each woman decide which method or device is best suited to her particular needs. There is no charge for any of these services, however, anyone who has the means to do so is expected to arrange her contraceptive program with her own physician.

According to Dr. Fraser there is no financial criteria for determining eligibility. The services are available to any one in any of the following categories: adult men and women, the emancipated minor (an unmarried person between the ages of 15 and 21 who is living away from home and managing his or her own income), unmarried pregnant minors and other minors who have parental consent.

"Our reasons for expanding four family planning services are really very simple," Dr. Fraser said. "We now have the medical ability to enable parents to decide on the size of their family and to prevent unwanted pregnancies. We must see that these services, an integral part of health care are made more available to the people of Monterey County. This is our obligation to parents, their children and to society as a whole. Over-population and unwanted children are very real problems. Our job is to prevent these problems whenever we can."

Dr. Fraser explained that information about a Family Planning Clinic appointment can be made by calling; 424-7627 in Salinas or 373-0111 in Monterey.

Today is Thanksgiving Day. Thanksgiving should be our greatest holiday as far as National holidays are concerned. Certainly the Fourth of July is our greatest National Holiday, but it is on Thanksgiving that you can give thanks for the Freedom that is guaranteed by our Declaration of Independence; thanks that we have a free country in which to be thankful. Freedom is man's ultimate goal in this life. To be Free is to be at one with the universe. Freedom is the attainment of a oneness with God. Freedom from fear, freedom from anxiety, freedom from one's own mistakes is what we all must strive for if we are to be really free.

According to our United States history, the first Thanksgiving was observed by the Pilgrims in the Colony of Plymouth at the proclamation of Governor Bradford in 1621--350 years ago. The first National Proclamation of Thanksgiving was issued by President Abraham Lincoln in 1863, over 100 years ago, to give thanks for the end of the Civil War. In 1941, Congress passed an act which decreed that the fourth Thursday of November shall be proclaimed as Thanksgiving Day and that is what we are celebrating today.

In these trying times that we are experiencing, with a war in Vietnam and unemployment stalking the land, with the constant threat of the annihilation of the human race through the use of atomic weapons, not to mention the pollution of our air and water which is slowly strangling us, where the national norm is a score of 50--the state's youngsters scored 42.6, also up .9 from last year. The second grade score in 1966 was 37.6.

Reading Progress Is Slow

At the third grade level--where the national norm is a score of 72--the state's children scored 63.4, up .3 from last year. The third grade score was 61.9 in 1967, the first year the standardized statewide tests were given at the third grade level.

James H. Crandall, chief of the Bureau of Evaluation and Instructional Research, told the board the improvement was predictable this year after the gains of the previous years.

First graders this year were switched from the Stanford Reading Test to the new Cooperative Primary Reading Test. Second graders move to the new test next year and the third graders the following year.

To compare the first grade tests this year with those of last year, the State Department of Education had to develop a conversion factor between the two tests. It did this by giving both tests to more than 10,000 first grade students in three school districts. The conversion factor developed from this process was applied to all the test scores of first graders throughout the state.

At grades six through twelve, Crandall did not show comparisons with previous years. The results, however, showed the state's youngsters to be considerably below the national norm in language ability at these grades.

"In grades six and twelve, pupil test scores in language were markedly below both the publishers' norms and each of the other areas tested," Crandall told the board. "These test results appear to indicate a need for study of the language curriculum of California schools."

Board member Henry Gunderson asked whether the scores might be even higher than they should be. He said he had received a copy of a word list that a school official in one district had given to teachers. The list purportedly contained words that would be on the reading test.

Crandall replied that it is against the law for school officials to cheat on the tests and district superintendents must sign a statement that cheating has not occurred.

Board member Tony N. Sierra said he fears the statewide test scores were pulled down by a number of Spanish-speaking children who are handicapped in English. He said the state has to do more for Mexican-American children.

California's children are reading a little better than they have but the gain is small and the progress slow.

This is the conclusion that can be drawn from a report on statewide reading test scores presented to the State Board of Education at its recent meeting in Sacramento. The tests covered children in grades one, two, three, six and twelve. Results were:

At the first grade level--where the national norm is a score of 47--the state's students scored 35.4 in tests given last May. This represents a gain of .9 from the previous year. The first grade score was 30.6 in 1966 when the test first was given.

At the second grade level--

CDCEC Dinner Will Have All The Trimmings

The Thanksgiving Dinner at the Army Combat Developments Command Experimentation Command at Fort Ord is going to be about as delicious, as attractively served and as joyous as that which Seaside housewives are planning. At CDCEC's Headquarters Company mess--and in mess halls all through the Army, with very few exceptions--the menu planned for Turkey Day will feature all the traditional dishes, in plenty.

And if Mrs. Homemaker thinks shopping list is pretty lengthy, she can consider what the Army's list is like.

The Defense Supply Agency estimates that the items on their list, to be issued for the Army's Thanksgiving dinners all over the world--and this is in pounds--as follows: 2.1 million pounds of turkey; 262.500 of ham; 42,000 shrimp; 787,500 potatoes; 383,933 cranberry sauce; 350,000 fruit cakes; 262,500 mincemeat; 253,820 in pumkin and 280,000 pounds of candy.

Like the Homemaker, CDCEC Hqs. Company Mess personnel are going all out in making its dining rooms as festive in tone as possible to set the mood, so the occasion will be as pleasing to the eye and the spirit as to the palate.

It will be well cooked, too, for CDCEC's Headquarters Company mess hall recently placed second in mess halls of this country, in the International Phillip J. Connelly Army Food Service competition. They'll do their best to make it as good as mother's for personnel away from home during this family holiday.

Like most homemakers, the CDCEC Headquarters company personnel are expecting special guests to join their regular group around the groaning board. CDCEC's commanding general, Brigadier General Thomas W. Brown is coming, with his wife and daughter Pamela and among those CDCEC officers and their wives also invited are Colonel and Mrs. John Jennings Jr. and Colonel and Mrs. Worthington -Mahone. Command Sergeant Major and Mrs. William Beasley are also expected. And, of course, families of CDCEC headquarters company personnel will be welcomed.

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Lee Fox, now of Fort Ord, but soon to be assigned to CDCEC, will give the blessing.

CARE Rushes Aid to Tidal Wave Victims

Emergency aid is being distributed by CARE to thousands of homeless survivors of East Pakistan's devastating tidal wave and cyclone and plans are under way to airlift $350,000 worth of additional help.

Regional Director Molly Farmin announced at CARE offices in San Francisco that CARE's first action as soon as the extent of the disaster became known was to authorize its representatives in East Pakistan to make local purchases of $10,000 worth of relief supplies for immediate distribution.

At the same time, the CARE office in Dacca, the country's capital, placed its vehicles and drivers at the disposal of the government for transport of help to the stricken areas.

Preparations are being to bolster the CARE relief operation by flying in supplies drawn from its mission in nearby India together with a team of field representatives supplementing the local staff to speed distribution of food and blankets to those in need.

A cable received at New York headquarters from the representative in Chittagong, East Pakistan, reported that houses built in a CARE program to replace homes destroyed in the monsoon two years ago were "strong and standing."

The Regional CARE office is located at 444 Market Street, San Francisco, California 94111.

Airman Is Honored

Air Force airman first class Larry J. Bowlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Bowlin of Marina was one of 150 United Nations Command (UNC) enlisted men, representing nine nations, who were honored at a recent USO salute to servicement in Seoul, Korea.

Sponsored by the Seoul USO council, the two-day affair was planned to bring to the attention of the Korean community the many accomplishments of United Nations servicemen stationed in Korea.

The salute started with a banquet in one of Seoul's finest hotels which included a special appearance by Swedish actress, Anita Ekberg. The following day the men were given a tour of the city and a luncheon by city officials at Kyongbok Palace.

Airman Bowlin is serving near Osan, Korea.

The 22-year-old soldier is a 1966 graduate of Seaside High School.

Returns To Port

Generals Visit

Recently the Army Combat Developments Command Experimentation Command at Fort Ord was visited by three Generals; namely, Major General Leo H. Schweiter, Major General S.M.OH. Abraham and Brigadier General W. J. Maddox Jr.

Major General Schweiter is the Deputy Commanding General of the Army Combat Developments Command at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, CDCEC's parent unit and was here to observe an experimentation phase in which he had particular interest.

Major General Abraham is Director of Combat Developments for the British Army and was accompainied on his visit here by two CDC officers from Belvoir: Lt. Colonel John V. New PG&E Film Shows Outdoor Recreation

Pacific Gas and Electric Company's major contributions to conservation, outdoor recreation and the environment are depicted in a dramatic new color film, "From Every Mountainside."

The film is scheduled to be released for public viewing on December 1.

The operation of the company's hydroelectric plants from the Cascade Mountains through the southern Sierra Nevada provides the setting of the story.

"We live in times when men must work cooperatively with Mother Nature to persuade her to become a better custodian of her own resources," the film relates in scenes showing how experts in biology, forestry, recreation planning and many other fields devote their skills to conservation aspects as the company puts watershed lands to work for mutiple uses.

Scenes of spectacular beauty in the 25 minute film were taken at some of the 150 lakes and reservoirs and along 225 miles of live streams on company lands where public campsites and picnic areas have been developed by PG&E for public use. More than a million and a half people use the PG&E recreation areas each year.

"From Every Mountainside" was filmed by PG&E's award-winning cinematographer Jon Stanton. It was written by Caryl Coleman, well known script writer and television producer and was edited by Dave Butler, a pioneer in the field of 16 millimeter film editing and production. The narrator is Hollywood radio personality and TV personality Marvin Miller.

The colorful film story is available for viewing by school, recreation, service or club groups. It may be reserved through any PG&E office or by writing to the PG&E Film Library, 245 Market Street, San Francisco.

BRAKE PEDAL

While driving, advises the National Automobile Club, don't rest your foot on the brake pedal.

CHP Sets New Standards

Standards for measuring motor vehicle exhaust emissions and worn tires were authorized by the 1970 legislature and are now in use by California Highway Patrol vehicle inspection teams throughout the state.

Beginning November 23, it became illegal to use on a highway a tire so worn that less than one thirty-second of an inch of tread depth remains in any two adjacent grooves at any location on the tire.

The Patrol previously issued citations for unsafe tires under the Vehicle Code section which makes it unlawful to operate any vehicle which is in an unsafe condition. With the new standard, however, vehicle owners, patrol officers and the tire industry have a common definition of an unsafe tire.

The amendment makes it unlawful for any dealer or retailer to offer for sale or install on a vehicle for use on a highway any tire not in compliance with CHP regulations.

The Patrol has regulated new tire standards for passenger cars for the past year and a half, but some distributors circumvented the law by merely marking their tires in chalk "pick up tire," thus avoiding the passenger car regulations and implying to the innocent purchaser that the tire exceeded the passenger car standards.

Under the amendments, the CHP is authorized to adopt regulations regarding standards and certification procedures for new and used pneumatic tires for all highway uses. It is the intention of the Patrol, which sponsored the bill, to adopt standards which will regulate racing slicks and cheater slicks in such a manner as to prohibit their use on the highways.

Passenger Vehicle Inspection teams soon will be equipped with another new tool --an exhaust emission analyzer.

The Air Resources Board in cooperation with the CHP will adopt standards for testing the efficiency of individual smog control devices on the highway. Once these standards are adopted, PVI procedures will include exhaust emission tests of all vehicles which pass through the PVI lanes.

If a vehicle which is required to be equipped with a smog control system is found to exceed prescribed emission levels, the owner will be required to obtain a certificate of compliance within 30 days from an official Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Device Installation and Inspection Station. The licensed installer will perform a 'mini-tune-up' to insure the optimum efficiency of the pollution control device.

Certificates of compliance will be valid for a one-year period.

New Standards Are Made For Ambulances

Ambulances answering traffic accident calls or making other emergency runs soon will be staffed with an attendant as well as a driver and both will be qualified to operate all the vehicle's emergency equipment and to render first aid.

California Highway Patrol Commissioner H.W. Sulivan disclosed this in announcing the adoption of several changes in the state's regulations relating to ambulance operations. The Highway Patrol, which licenses and regulates ambulances in California developed the new regulatins with the cooperation of the ambulance industry.

"The requirement for each ambulance to have an attendant as a driver becomes effective on January 1," Sullivan said. "In addition, the new regulation requires the attendant to occupy the patient compartment while transporting any person in apparent need of medical attention."

The new regulations, however, provide for an exception to the two-man crew requirement. An ambulance service may be granted an exemption by the Highway Patrol at the request of a county board of supervisors when the emergency medical care committee of a county finds that the exemption is necessary for public health and safety.

Fewer intersection collisions between ambulances and other vehicles is the aim of another provision that became effictive on November 1. It limits an ambulance to a speed of 15 miles an hour while traversing intersections against stop signs or stop signals, even while using the red light and siren.

Another new section spells out that use of the red light and siren is authorized only "when necessary for the preservation of live."

Seaside Ripples

it may be difficult for many of us to sit down and give thanks. Let us examine our consciences a little closer and we can find just thousands of little and big things to be thankful for.

First of all let's be thankful that we can worship any god we choose or no god at all if we so choose. We can do this in any church that we find convenient. We can be thankful that many persons have gone to jail and, yes, even been executed for their beliefs to be able to prove that the Bill of Rights is just that. Professor John T. Scopes went to jail and withstood the ordeal of a lengthy trial in Tennessee for teaching the theory of evolution. Scopes was convicted, but the decision was later set aside. Scopes could be thankful that he didn't live in the days of the witch-hunters of Salem. He would have been burned at the stake. Those witch trials in Salem resulted in the sentencing to death of 19 women by Judge Samuel Sewall in 1692. There was no freedom of religion in those days before the Bill of Rights was written.

We have many modern day "witch-hunters" in our own midst who would cry "Communist" and "Lib-Radical" at anyone who doesn't agree with their particular brand of thinking on any given subject. We can be thankful that the American People awoke to the dangers to our liberties presented by such "witch-hunters" as Senator Joe McCarthy in the fifties. Just as the people didn't buy the rantings and ravings of Agnew in his vendetta to destroy many good senators and congressmen who didn't agree with his politics, we can be just as thankful that the voters of Seaside aren't going to let a small group of disgruntled men and women destroy our election processes by threatening to recall anyone who doesn't agree with their politics. Certainly, these "witch-hunters," who would destroy our freedom, seem at times to be successful, but in the long run we have found again and again that the wisdom of the American people somehow finds them out and they are defeated.

Let each of us sit down by ourselves this Thanksgiving day and examine our respective consciences to find out just how many things we have to be thankful for. We may be surprised. I know that I am.

I turned to "The Voice of the Master" Kahlil Gibran as I always do to find some quotations which fit the occasion and came up with the following:

"In this world there are two sorts of men. The men of yesterday and the men of tomorrow. To which of these do you belong, my brethren? Come, let me gaze at you and learn whether you are of those entering into the world of light or of those going forth into the land of darkness. Come, tell me who you are and what you are.

"Are you a politician who says to himself: 'I will use my country for my own benefit'? If so, you are naught but a parasite living on the flesh of others. Or are you a devoted patriot, who whispers into the ear of his inner self: 'I love to serve my country as a faithful servant.' If so, you are an oasis in the desert, ready to quench the thirst of the wayfarer. Or are you a journalist who sells his principles in the markets of slaves and who fattens on gossip and misfortune of crime? If so, you are like a ravenous vulture preying upon rotting carrion. Or are you a teacher standing upon the raised stage of history, who, inspired by the gloreis of the past, preaches to mankind and acts as he preaches? If so, you are a restorative to ailing humanity and a balm for the wounded heart.

"Thus is mankind divided into two long columns, one composed of the aged and the bent, who support themselves on crooked staves, and as they walk on the path of Life, they pant as if they were climbing toward a mountaintop while they are actually descending into the abyss.

"And the second column is composed of youth running with winged feet, singing as if their throats were strung with silver strings, and climbing towards the mountaintop as though drawn by some irresistable power.

"In which of these two processions do you belong, my brethren? Ask yourselves this question, when you are alone in the silence of the night.

"Judge for yourselves whether you belong with the Slaves of Yesterday or the Free Men of Tomorrow."

Thanksgiving Services

A Service of praise and thanksgiving will be held on Thanksgiving Day at 9:30 a.m. by Faith Lutheran Church of Seaside.

The altar and chancel of the church will be decorated with a bounty of God's good earth.

The sermon theme will be "We've Had It - You Gave It." In the sermon Pastor Robert Bendick will say that "Gratitude is more than a feeling, it is a confession of faith as to both Gift and Giver."

Faith's choir under the direction of Mrs. Bill Hendley will sing "Forgive us Lord for Shallow Thankfulness" and "God of our Fathers".

The church invites the community to worship with Faith on this day of Thanksgiving. Faith Lutheran Church is located at 1460 Hilby Avenue, near Waring, in Seaside.

WHO CARES

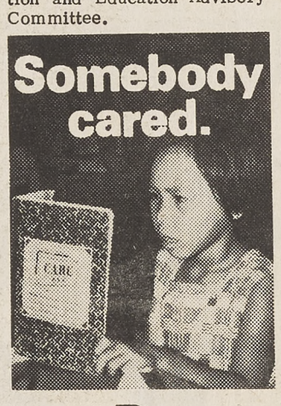

"Good morning, dear children. I do hope all of you young ladies remembered to wear your brassieres this morning, because if you didn't you know of course that our big bad principal will have to expel you from school. And you, George, come out right this minute from behind that bookcase and quit snickering, because starting next week any boy who forgets to wear his shorts will be expelled, too."

Would you believe that a girl in Kent, Washington, was expelled from high school for not wearing a bra? It happened last week, and we can only, at this time, conjecture about the boys' shorts, but let us for a moment think about the meaning of the term, "land of the free," along with its implied "right" to live and breathe in some kind of an uncensored manner.

Recently a young man was fined rather heavily for leaning on a fire hydrant in Carmel, a stuffy little city about three miles south of a combination military-retirement-tourist trap community called Monterey. The law was probably originally intended to prevent tired spectators from concealing fire hydrants by sitting on them while watching fires, thus keeping the firemen from finding the hydrants before the fires finally burned themselves out.

From The Heart Of a Rose From

Breathe out - sweet rose
The fragrance of a soul serene
Within whose beauty lurks a thread
Of Life and Love Divine,
Radiating from each petal Red
A Light - like to a holy shrine.

Well hast thou been named the Queen of Flowers,
For who beneath the cool and shady bowers,
Sheltered - refreshed from sojourn there
Hath not looked out - and seemed to see more fair-
All things in life - freed from toil and care.

Thou liftest up thy proud and haughty head
In power and majesty - above thy lowly bed
Where thou - in darkness take within thy stem
From mold of earth and refuse
And in stillness-transmute them
Into beauty - which attracts the eyes of men.

Then as thy day declineth, and thy mission is fulfilled,
Thou droopest 'gain thy stately head
And as thy life is stilled,
Thy petals flutter downward and to the earth return
Giving life new to all which is born
Unmindful of the leaf and thorn.

Still breathing forth the fragrance sweet
As thou doth to dust return -
Each petal of the QUEEN of FLOWERS
The sweetest of them all.
And so from you a lesson's learned,
A duty great and grand,
To lift again the fallen and transmute into men
The sinner and the outcast -
The lame - the halt and blind -
The fettered and the lonely ones,
All - heaven on earth shall find
Thru' Christ-Eternal Spirity-Eternal Life and Love
And sons of men shall see the Light
And be 'gain SONS of GOD.

No one is meant to live in poverty

Some feel they are "doomed" to poverty, even that it is the will of God.

But the Bible tells us that God is good, and that He is the only real cause.

In fact, the Bible is full of instances of people who were lifted out of desperate need solely through an understanding of God's loving provision for every individual.

Many today are using this understanding faith to find their way out of poverty.

The Christian Science Bible Lesson this week can give you some practical and helpful ideas on this subject.

You are invited to come in to our Reading Room and study it.

Awarded Medal

Sergeant First Class Edmundo Ramos received the Bronze Star, from Captain Richard G. Cannon, commanding officer, Company B, in special ceremonies, recently at the Defense Language Institute, West Coast Branch (DLIWC), Presidion of Monterey, Calif.

Sergeant Ramos, a student of Italian, was cited for heroism while serving with Company D, 5th Special Forces Group (Airbourne), 1st Special Forces in the Republic of Vietnam.

Responding to an alert siren on April 29, 1970, Sergeant Ramos engaged several enemy soldiers. In the intense return fire of hand grenades, small arms and rocket fire, he was knocked unconscious and severly wounded. On regaining consciousness, Sergeant Ramos, despite his wounds, charged across an open field firing into a group of attackers. He continued his assault on the enemy until his ammunition ran out. He, then, retreated to a position near his buddies.

In addition to the Bronze Star with Valor Device, Sergeant Ramos holds the Air Medal, Purple Heart, Good Conduct Medal with two clasps the National Defense Service Medal, Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal, Vietnam Service Medal and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal with "60" bar. He also has two Cross of Gallantry with Silver Stars presented by the government of the Republic of Vietnam.

He and his wife, Ingrid and their children live in Fort Ord.

Series tickets for the six remaining Explorama programs including "Londontown", are still available. Reserved seat single program tickets are now available at Abinante Music Store, 425 Alvarado, Monterey, phone 372-5893. First Oak Leaf Cluster to the

MAJORITY

In the developing-nations, nearly half the population are under 15 years of age. Approximately three-quarters of the world's children live in areas where the average income is less than $500 a year. The United Nations Children's Fund helps provide better food and medical care for these youngsters.

COMMANDER CLAUDE F. GILES, instructor in the Naval Postgraduate School's Meteorology and Oceanography Departments, retired from the Navy this month after 22 years of active duty. Cmdr. Giles has been an instructor at the school for the last three and a half years and also served as NPS flight officer for the past year. His prior assignment was flying C-130 aircraft to Southeast Asia for the Military Air Transport Service. He also spent two years with the Hurricane Hunter Squadron, Jacksonville, Fla., making low-level flights into hurricanes to measure their intensity. Cmdr. Giles plans to make Monterey his home and will launch his second career with the Term Insurance Planning Corporation of Monterey.

For Women Only

There are recipes--and recipes. These three are offered for trying by talented homemakers. Not original here, the recipes have cropped up in printed places from time to time, anonymously; but, they are worth passing on to ladies who find the home a more rewarding place to serve mankind than the Liberation Front.

Not that some generous servings of the food for thought in these recipes wouldn't be most helpful to any wife and mother.

These three recipes can be whipped up with instant success by the least talented of cooks, just so their hearts are in the right place.

HOW TO COOK A HUSBAND

A good many husbands are entirely spoiled by mismanagement in cooking and so are not tender and good. Some women keep them constantly in hot water; others freeze them; others put them in a stew; others roast them and still others keep them constantly in a pickle.

Be sure to select him yourself, since tastes differ. It does not make as much difference what you cook him in, as how you cook him. Don't keep him in the kettle by force as he will stay there himself if proper care is taken. If he should sputter or fizz, do not be anxious. Some husbands do this. Add a little sugar in the form of what confectioners call "kisses" but no vinegar or pepper on any account.

A little spice improves them, but it must be used with judgment. Do not try him with anything sharp to see if he is becoming tender. Stir him gently awhile, lest he stay too long in the kettle and become flat and tasteless. If thus treated, you will find him very digestable, agreeing nicely with you and he will keep as long as you want.

HOW TO RAISE CHILDREN

Ingredients:
1 large grassy field,
1/2 doz children
2-3 days
a pinch of brook
some pebbles
assorted flowers

Mix children and days together and place in a grassy field, stirring constantly. Pour the brook over the pebbles. Sprinkle the field with flowers. Spread over all a deep blue sky and bake in the hot sun. When brown, remove and set to cool in a bath tub. Serves all. (A sandy beach can be substituted for the field and brook, seashells for flowers.)

FRIENDSHIP PRESERVES

(As delicious a dish to serve to the neighbors tradepeople, public servants, school and church and club contacts, in-laws, co-workers, friends of your children and mate and your relatives, as for your own chums.)

Take true hearts, add goodly portions of admiration, mix well with sincerity and kindness. Sweeten with smiles and spice with joys and sorrows mutually shared, and friendship preserves itself forever.

Graduates

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Edward Q. Lomboy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Lomboy of Seadise, was graduated from the Avionics Fundamentals School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis.

Grooving Around The Peninsula

with Betty Mann

Hi there fellow Peninsulans:

Happenings last week included the MPUSD Annual Community board meeting that was held at King Jr. High. A throng of 300 persons filled the King Jr. High auditorium to full capacity. The meeting was opened with the salute to the flag. Mrs. Lula Robinson, music teacher at King presented to the audience the King Jr. High's school chorus, which sang two very select renditions of "Certainly Lord" and the "Impossible Dream". Mr. Gervaise Davis, president of the MPUSD board then introduced the first speaker of the evening-Mayor Lou Haddad who gave a very fine commendation to the school board for doing such a wonderful job in the school system with only a small amount of money to work with. He also highly commended Mrs. Charlie Knight, who is MPUSD director of compensatory education, for involving so many Seaside residents in the ESEA program as teachers and aides. There are 98 on the payroll and 96 are from Seaside. Over 7,366 Seaside youngsters have participated in this program.

A letter from the Monterey Bay School Administration Association was read opposing membership policies of certain local fraternal troduced the principals of the Seaside school district and Dr. Henry Hutchins, Assistant Superintendent of elementary education. Dr. Hutchins introduced the three principals from the elementary school of Del Rey Oaks, Highland and Ord Terrace. Del Rey Oaks principal, Mr. Edwards, presented three very bright youngsters who are in the sixth grade at the school and are serving as tutorial helpers to students in the lower classes. Principal at Highland school, Mr. Jim Mitchell, spoke on that school's new Multi-Media center which consists of tutoring in many capacities for the elementary child at Highland. Mr. Manning principal at Ord Terrace spoke on their experiments with the staggered day program at the school which has proved successful and their preparations for a new Multi-Media center. Mrs. Billy Dubarry of Monterey High spoke on the projects of Monterey High and invited parents of students to come and visit the school and see what the counselor program is doing.

Dr. Jim Solberg of Seaside High introduced Mrs. Mary Powell who is teaching the nurses aide class at Seaside High and two of her students who gave a short speech on the effectiveness of this class and the experience an invaluable insight that this class is accomplishing. Principal Terry Magnan who is teaching a class in Pokice Terry Magnan who is teaching a class in Police Science. He said that the students in this class are allowed to ride certain times on the night patrol and to observe the officers in action. Mr. Jasper, principal of Fremont High, spoke on the intensified reading program at Fremont with a accompaning film on the effectiveness of this program at the school. Mrs. Charlie Knight spoke of her program and announced that federal funds were being procured for the children of welfare recipients who attend the Noche Buena Child care center. These funds will pay the fee for care of all children of ADC who have working parents or parents that are attending school. Mrs. Knight introduced her assistant, Mrs. Pauline McDaniels and th teachers and aides of her entire ESEA program. The aides include some persons who have not completed high school some with only a year of college and some working towards a masters degree. All of these interns are now attending MPC or the Foreign Language Institute to finish their education in the teaching field. These interns are sharing the work load along with the teachers in such target areas as math and reading programs.

The second half of the meeting was devoted to listening to the problems and complaints of the parents. One parent, Mrs. Frailley, approached the microphone and told the board and the audience that her daughter was involved in a minor incident at Fremont Jr. High along with two other girls. All three girls were suspended with the instructions that they could return to school, after being whipped by a belt by a parent in the midst of the juvenile probation officer at the Seaside police station.

This mother said she would not put on a show for anyone with her daughter and she wished to know if this was constitutional in the school system. Mr. Davis asked her to go to King Jr. High the next afternoon for a private discussion of the problem. Mr. Roy followed this speaker and that "while the films and speeches on the accomplishments of the school systems were going on everything was Rosy Dosy, but now you tell this mother to come back tommorrow to discuss this problem that the public should be entitled to hear what's going on in the school system." Mr. Roy stated that 18 youngsters were suspended in the last month for minor incidents such as eating a piece of candy in class. He stated that the establishment will have to stop using our children as scapegoats because suspensions tend to discourage the student and help him along the way to dropping out of school and into crime. Right on to that Jimmy (smile).

Mr. Lee Toler followed Mr. Roy and said that the district relies to much on staff members that he called "black specialists" - persons who are not necessarily black themselves, but who are supposed to understand the problems of blacks. He said that he had taken a trip to Sacramento and the school system there was teaching their youngsters to make furniture such as desks and cabinets in the schools workshop. He saw automobiles being broken down and molded again by students. But in the Monterey district youngsters are being taught to make shoe shine kits, pigeon coops and so forth. "What do the schools and the county have to offer the young men they cgeated years ago," he asked. Mr. James Golden of YAFA followed, saying that he attended Monterey High and graduated without being qualified to work at anything. He graduated by taking a few hours of P.E. here and a few hours of Woodshop there. Another interesting speaker was Jay Jackson, a community school counselor who spends days and nites working with youths in Seaside. Many students are suspended from school for doing something wrong and once thrown out they go into the streets where real trouble like getting hooked on dope starts. He stated that parents should put on a pair of levis and sneakers and walk the streets with him and see what some of your children are doing with the drug thing. Just last week he watched a 14-year old girl shoot up with heroin. He said the biggest dope pusher in the area is a 14-year old white Carmel High school girl who averages $250 per week income for pushing dope. He said he confronted the girl's parents in Carmel with the news and was called a liar and thrown out of their house. After a series of speakers the meeting was adjourned at the respectable hour of 11:45 p.m. (smile) To those of you parents who are in doubt about your youngsters and their accomplishments, you better start visiting the schools and the board meetings.

Happy Thanksgiving Dear Readers.

Questions and Answers

Q--I have a service-connected shoulder condition with a 10 percent rating that I feel should be rated higher, because the condition has worsened since VA examined me. How can I get my compensation increased?

A--Start by submitting a statement from your local physician noting his findings concerning your shoulder. Or you can obtain, free, the necessary treatment for your shoulder condition at a VA medical clinic. If the medical statement or VA examination warrants it, your claim will be reconsidered.

Q--My husband, a World War I veteran, died recently. Will the VA allow any reimbursement on his burial expenses?

A--Yes, up to and including $250. The VA also reimburses for transportation of a veteran's body to place of burial, if he was hospitalized or domiciled at a VA facility.

Q--I have $10,000 National Service Life term insurance which I obtained during World War II, and plan to convert to Modified Life. Is there a deadline for converting my insurance?

A--No, except that it must be converted to the Modified Life plan before you reach insurance age 61 (insurance age extends from six months before to six months after insured's birthday).

Q--I have a service-connected disability which requires continuous treatment. Since I plan to travel abroad in the near future, what arrangements shall I make regarding medication and treatment?

A--Contact the VA clinic now treating you to obtain appropriate supplies of your prescribed medication to carry with you, and for suggestions for obtaining medical supplies and services abroad. In case of a medical emergency In case of a medical emergency, contact the American Embassy or Consular Office.

Brothers Enlist in Air Force

Leonard and James Ordonio, 2025 Buchanan in Seaside, enlisted in the United States Air Force. Leonard enlisted on November 9 and James followed him on the 10th.

Both young men are now at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, for six weeks Basic Military Training.

Airman Leonard Ordonio enlisted in the General Field and brother, James, enlisted in the Administrative field.

Residents of Seaside since 1952, both graduated from Seaside High School, Leonard class of June '68 and James class of June '70. Leonard also holds an AA degree from Bryant and Stratton College.

The brothers will be at Lackland Air Force Base together for the six weeks then will more than likely go seperate ways because of the different type of training they will receive after they complete the training period.

Turkey Questions

by Martha Logan

Q. What are some tips that will help make carving the turkey easy for the host?

A. Place the turkey on a large platter. Avoid overcrowding the platter with garnishes. The breast of the turkey should be at the carver's left. Have a sharp carving knife, a long pronged fork, and an extra plate handy for carving thigh and drumstick.

Q. Does turkey take less time to cook when not stuffed?

A. Yes. Shorten the recommended times about 3/4 hr. for a 14 lb. bird and proportionately for other sizes.

A Midsummer Night's Dream

The enchanting fantasy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," will be presented in the Monterey Peinsula College theater during the first two weeks of December, with Morgan Stock, MPC drama department chairman, directing a large cast of student actors in the fifth Shakespearian production in the college's 23-year history.

The play, with original music by students Jan Spencer and Lee Michaud, will run Thursday through Saturday, December 3-5, as a special event of MPC's Rededication Week and Wednesday through Saturday, December 9-12, at 8:30 each evening.

Most of the principals in the cast appeared in the college production of "West Side Story," which officially opened the new theater last spring.

Steve Cronin, who was a "Jet" in the musical, has the coveted role of Bottom in "Midsummer."

Kitty Hendrix and C. Orlando Bonner, who were singing, acting, dancing leads in "West Side," play Hermia and Oberon in the current production.

The diminutive Alfredo Valdez, who made his dramatic debut as Chico, plays the immortal Puck.

Debby Berry, who was a dancer in "West Side" and has had acting experience at Carmel High School and the Studio Theater, plays Helena.

The role of Titania is taken by Betty Brown, also a "West Side Story" veteran.

The leading parts of Lysander and Demetrius are played by Mike Neilond and Paul Salinger ("West Side Story").

Theseus is Bob O'Brien, who admits only to "mino" high school roles."

Lead dancer and attendant to Oberon will be Granville Andrews.

Ruth Jordan Allan is in charge of scenery and Jean Miller is costumer. Student assistants to Stock are Bert Brauer and David McCharen.

Tickets, with all seats reserved, are available at the MPC theater box office Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. (phone 375-0455).

Chaplain Corps Is 195 Years Old

The United States Navy Chaplain Corps will observe its 195th anniversary this Saturday, November 28.

Today there are 1,000 chaplains on active duty at Navy and Marine Corps fleet and shore installations all over the world as well as aboard hundreds of ships. Of these, 8 are Jewish, about 280 are Roman Catholic 4 are Eastern Orthodox and the remainder are Protestants representing the Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Lutheran and Episcopalian denominations.

The Chaplain Corps is as old as the Navy itself. In 1755 the Contintal Congress adopted an article which reads: "The commanders of the ships of the Thirteen Colonies are to take care that divine services be performed twice a day on board, and a sermon preached on Sunday, unless bad weather or other extraordinary accidents prevent."

John Paul Jones first requested chaplains for his ships in 1778. They were assigned to the Ranger and Bon Homme Richard and the presence of chaplains aboard these ships signaled the beginning of a better life at sea. Flogging was discontinued as a form of discipline and many recreation and welfare programs were established.

Navy chaplains were authorized to wear Naval officer uniforms in 1838 and chaplains serving in the Civil War were given official rank in 1863. The Corps continued to develop until it reached an unprecedented 2,800 men during World War II. Over 35 percent of the Corps served in the Korean War and more than 60 percent in Vietnam. Of the 1,000 men now on active duty more than 650 have served "in country" and an additional 200 aboard ships deployed to Southeast Asia.

Wherever they are assigned Navy Chaplains are actively engaged in humanitarian work. In Vietnam, Fleet Marine Force chaplains distribute food, clothing, sewing material, toys and teaching aids to hospitals, schools and orphanages. They also take an active part in medical care programs in remote villages and sprawling refugee camps.

Chaplains aboard ship work with missionaries and civilian religious leaders at foreign ports-of-call and organize working parties among American sailors to promote good will and understanding among the local population.

In its 195-year history, the Navy Chaplain Corps has pursued high standards of moral, spiritual and religious growth among Navy and Marine Corps personnel. They are completely involved and totally committed to their mission: To bring God to men and men to God.

Laguna Seca Will Host Can-Am Event

Laguna Seca Raceway recently announced that it will again present a Canadian-American Challenge Cup Series event in 1971.

The million dollar, 10-event series will have a new system of purse distribution and will again be sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America and the CANADIAN Automobile Sports Corporation.

For the sixth consecutive year, the Johnson Wax Company will sponsor the series, continuing the promotional and financial backing it has furnished since the Can-Am was inaugurated.

The total of $800,000 in guaranteed awards to drivers is included in the 1971 program. The 10 events will each pay a record $75,000 minimum with $55,000 split among the top ten finishers.

The most unusual feature of the 1971 series will be an additional $20,000 to be awarded at each race to the top ten qualifiers. The pole position will be worth $2500 and the next ten fastest qualifiers will share the remainder of the $20,000 bonuses.

The $750,000 in race purses will be augmented by a $50,000 championship award to be divided among the top three drivers in the points standings at the end of the series, with $25,000 and the J-Wax trophy going to the champion.

Christmas Club Checks Distributed

Nearly $87 million in Bank of America Christmas Club checks--including $187,759.32 for 877 Seaside residents--are being distributed to thrifty Californians this month.

In announcing this year's total, Mr. Lloyd U. Mayland, Manager-Seaside Branch, noted that the savings are being distributed in plenty of time for the holiday shopping season.

The 1970 Christmas Club checks will average $211.70, down slightly from $218.12, last year's, when a record breaking $91 million was accumulated statewide.

All told, nearly 200,000 Northern Californians tucked away $42.2 million this year, while Southern Californians Collected $44.3 in 210,000 accounts.

In explaining the slight drop in the statewide figures, Mayland said this year's higher than usual unemployment rate led many residents to close off their accounts early. One of the major reasons for establishing Christmas Club accounts is for use in just such emergencies, he noted.

Other people use the money for winter vacations or paying such year-end expenses as taxes and insurance premiums.

Generally improving economic conditions should boost next year's figures again, however the banker predicted.

NO TIME

The California State Automobile Association emphasizes that cars cannot stop quckly, that it takes time for a driver to react, time to apply the brakes and time for the brakes to stop the car. All this means that a driver often cannot stop in enough time to avoid hitting a pedestrian, especially a small one, who may unexpectedly appear in front of him.
